Introduction

District committees support the College's integrated institutional planning process of ensuring institutional effectiveness. Planning committees are essential for strategic planning to guide institutional and program plans, and for information to flow from program review to the functional committees. Other district committees act in an advisory capacity to strengthen services for students and staff.

This handbook documents committee roles and membership so that they can be easily located from one year to the next. Changes to committee roles or membership should be approved by the planning committee as well as the Institutional Effectiveness Committee, and revised in this handbook.

This handbook is given to all new hires, and is given to Committee Chairs at the integrated planning committee meeting at the beginning of each year.

Committee Resources

Each committee has a website on internal.redwoods.edu.

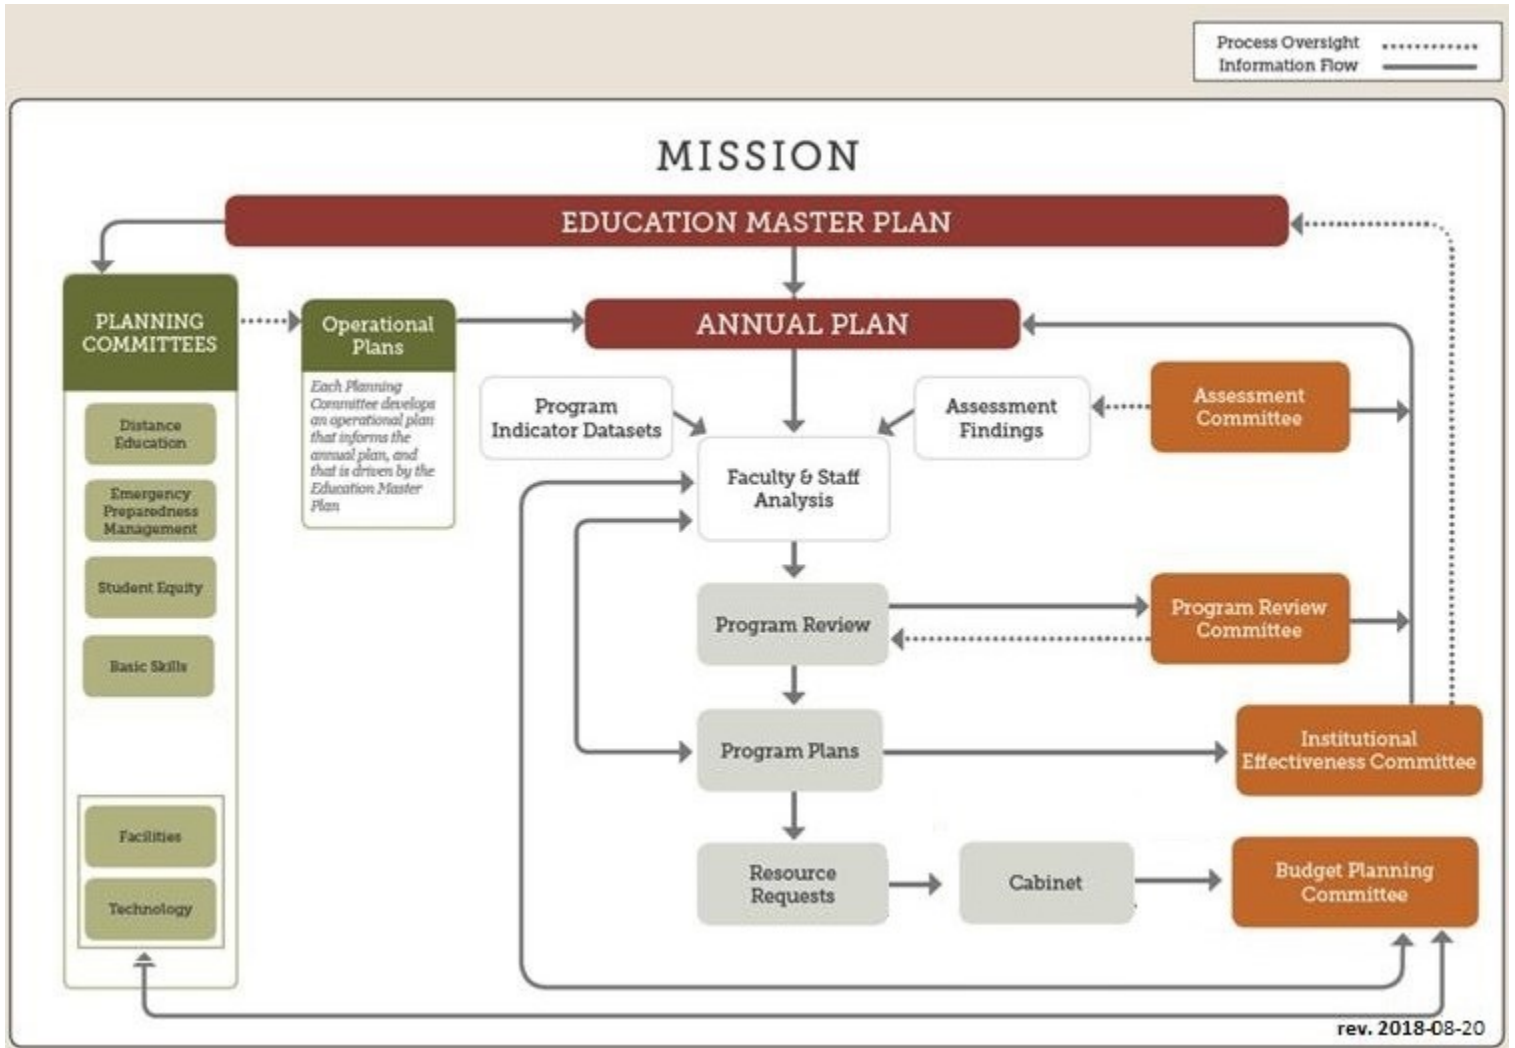

Each website is standardized to include an 'About' page with a purpose, committee history and typical tasks, as well as committee membership.

Internal.redwoods.edu also has a Calendar tab at <http://internal.redwoods.edu/calendar> which shows the dates and times that each committee meets.

Additional resources relevant to many committees, such as planning, program review, and assessment documents can be accessed on internal.redwoods.edu.

Every month, committees have the opportunity to put a summary of their most important work into a committee digest (<http://inside.redwoods.edu/digest>) that is disseminated to the District. The digest provides a way of informing faculty and staff of the work being done without overloading everyone with emails and information.
