Course Objectives & Structure

Accounting is the common language of organizations: businesses, not-for-profits, or governments. The basic principles of accounting provide a common ground for communication. The objective of this course is for you to learn, understand and to apply those basic principles. In addition to specific accounting curriculum objectives identified in the Course Outline, broad course objectives include the development of learning, thinking, communication and teamwork skills. In accounting, new concepts build on those that have been learned before. Therefore, it is essential you keep current in this course. You will be required to communicate your knowledge clearly by completing assignments and assessments.

You MUST participate during the first week of class or you may be dropped from the roster.

Grades are earned as follows:

Participation - Your postings to the Discussion Forum will count as participation in this class.

You will answer Accounting Questions, organized by chapter, and posted by the instructor.

An Ethics Challenge question also will be posted periodically. You will respond to the Ethics Challenge question and respond to three other students' responses. You can earn up to five points for each chapter.

Participation comprises 20% of your grade.

Homework assignments - There is one homework assignment (comprising three segments) for each chapter. After you have studied the chapter, complete the assignment specified in the MyCR Assignments module. You can earn up to 20 points for each chapter. (In limited circumstances, students may do their homework manually. Contact the instructor if you are unable to use the Connect interactive homework tool. See * next page.)

You will also find the link at our MyCR website. A Connect interactive access code card is included with the required loose leaf text at no extra cost, if the book is purchased new. A current Connect access code can be purchased separately, directly from the publisher, should you purchase a used textbook without an unused access code. Use the same URL above.

- The course delivery provides a text equivalent for all non-text elements such as images, animations, applets, audio/video files and art. This will enable a screen reader to read the text equivalent to a blind student.
- The course delivery provides descriptions for important graphics if they are not fully described through alternative text or in a document's content. The description would inform a blind student of what a picture represented.
- The course delivery ensures that information conveyed by the use of color is also understandable without color. For example, so a blind or color-blind student could understand a color-coded representation of DNA.
- The course delivery ensures that moving, blinking, scrolling, or auto-updating objects or pages may be paused or frozen. The movement can be distracting for students with certain disabilities.
