Course Description

A pre-collegiate, competency-based course emphasizing the acquisition and integration of basic academic reading and writing skills. Students develop reading strategies necessary for simple academic reading and write extended formal paragraphs and basic expository essays. The lab component of the course is scheduled in the Writing Lab, where students practice basic reading and writing skills and receive essential tutorial support in reading strategies, in writing, and in sentence skills.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. As a reader, identify the main idea and its major and minor support in simple academic articles.
2. Recognize that writing involves many steps, which include generation of ideas, organization of information, development of general and specific support, revision, and editing.
3. Generate and organize general and specific support derived from personal experiences to develop a point in a paragraph and in a basic essay.
4. Formulate and support a thesis in a unified, coherent, and well-developed basic expository essay.
5. Apply basic grammar, usage, and punctuation rules in writing with special attention paid to sentence boundaries.
6. Employ the Writing Lab to enhance and to support basic academic behavior and habits necessary for college success.

Special accommodations: College of the Redwoods complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act in making reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. Please present your written accommodation request at least one week before the first test so that necessary arrangements can be made. No last-minute arrangements or post-test adjustments will be made. If you have a disability or believe you might benefit from disability related services and may need accommodations, please see me or contact Disabled Students Programs and Services. Students may make requests for alternative media by contacting DSPS.

Academic Misconduct: Cheating, plagiarism, collusion, abuse of resource materials, computer misuse, fabrication or falsification, multiple submissions, complicity in academic misconduct, and/ or bearing false witness will not be tolerated. Violations will be dealt with according to the procedures and sanctions proscribed by the College of the Redwoods. Students caught plagiarizing or cheating on exams will receive an "F" in the course.

Course Overview

English 350 has two parts: class and lab. During class time we have a mix of teaching time and activities. You will work independently, in pairs, and in small groups during the activity time. On Monday through Wednesday, after a short break, you will have time in the Writing Lab where you can do homework, use a computer for writing assignments, or receive one-on-one help from me.

Expectations

- ❖ Students should get to class on time. Excessive tardies (more than 3) and/or absences (more than 5) are grounds for being dropped from the class.
- ❖ You should be prepared to participate in class activities by having all homework complete.
- ❖ If you are absent, you should call another student in this class to find out what you missed. You can e-mail me or leave a message with Dan at the main college number (he will get it to me) if you have questions or concerns.
- ❖ You may make up a missed test only if you have a doctor’s note explaining you were too ill to attend class.
- ❖ I prefer to be called either Miss Bayon or Dr. Julie. (The title “doctor” refers to my doctorate in education.)
- ❖ Students should take advantage of the free tutoring help available on campus as needed.

Requirements

- Hand in all assignments on time, unless prior arrangements have been made.
- Keyboard all paragraph/essay assignments on a computer word processor.
- Take the Degrees of Reading Power test and the Competency Exam.
- Submit the final portfolio.

Grading

English 350 grades are computed according to the scale found in the CR catalog:

A (90-100%) B (80-89%) C (70-79%) D (60-69%) F (0-59%)

Degrees of Reading Power Test (SLO 1)	10%
Final Writing Portfolio (SLO 2, 5)	10%

Notes

- Students with disabilities are invited to meet with me to identify any special needs. The Disabled Students Programs and Services folks offer assessment and accommodation assistance.
- All students are responsible for their own work. While I encourage collaborative work (study groups) and tutoring, any plagiarism, cheating, or disruptive behavior will result in immediate referral to the appropriate vice president and the “Student Code of Conduct Standards.”
- Cell phones and other personal electronic devices should be turned off during class. If you must take a call, set your phone to vibrate and quietly leave the room. Notebook computers may be used only during time devoted to in-class essay writing.
- This syllabus is subject to change should circumstances warrant revision.
