Welcome to English 1A!

Course Description:

English 1A is a 4 unit transfer-level course in critical reading and reasoned writing. Students analyze issues and claims presented in visual, oral, or written arguments and write analytical and argumentative essays based on those issues. Research and source-based writing, employing correct MLA documentation, is required. [Prereq=English 150 (or equivalent) with grade of "C" or better or appropriate reading and writing scores on the placement exam.]

This course relies heavily on FTF as well as on-line discussions and peer critiques to help us focus on the elements of analysis and argument. Working together will help us seize the opportunity to be adventurous and take risks with our reading, thinking, and writing in a supportive, creative environment. Our classes might also be used for both FTF and virtual conferences (individual or group), small group collaborations, or other activities.

Theme: Returning Home—

Our course theme encourages us to explore all the ways we leave and all the ways we return home again to our center ...physically, mentally, emotionally, and/or spiritually. In this course, we'll use our course activities to explore what this journey looks like for ourselves and others (in the class and in our course spectrum of readings, audios and videos); it is also my hope that through this exploration we will become more mindfully connected with people, places, and situations foreign to us and develop both compassion and resourcefulness in those connections. This course will ask us to think critically about what we value, what other individuals in our community value, and how we can work together to merge our values and contribute to a better world.

WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY "OUR CENTER?"

I imagine this word could mean different things to different people. What I mean by it is the place where you feel "whole and alive."

Learning Outcomes:

Students who successfully complete English 1A should be able to:

- Analyze argumentative claims.
- Respond to arguments with persuasive critical essays.
- Locate, synthesize, and document sources for use in response to arguments.
- Revise and edit for sentence structure and mechanics

General Course Instructions:

As this is a hybrid course, you need to attend & fully participate in each week's scheduled FTF class session AND you will be expected to complete each week's online module assignments by participating in online discussions and completing all online activities & quizzes within the module's week. Each week begins on Monday morning and ends Sunday at noon.

Instructor Commitment: In addition to facilitating traditional activities for our FTF classes, I will also access the class Canvas site regularly and respond to posted questions in the manner stated previously. Additionally, I read every discussion forum post and occasionally participate. There is also regular FTF and virtual instructor-based communication with announcements, lectures, evaluative feedback to your discussion posts and formal paper assignments, and emails/messages to students who fall behind.

Student Commitment: Your commitment will require at least as much time as you dedicate to a traditional class, about 10-12 hours per week. Each week, you will need to be prepared for and participate in both FTF classes and in our online modules. Both sections of this course will contain lectures and readings, videos, audios, writing activities and discussions, and occasional quizzes. Dedication, attention to details, and asking questions in areas of uncertainty are CRITICAL for success.

Course Requirements:

In this class, you are expected to keep up with all the requirements as outlined below:

- Computer Requirements— Hybrid courses require adequate computer skills and internet access. You should be able to navigate the course websites, open and download files, use a word processor with either Microsoft word (.docx) or be able to convert files to rich text format (.rtf) or portable document format (.pdf), and submit files, including text, audio and/or video, to the class website.

As to internet access, most internet providers are adequate for this course. I recommend broadband services from cable, DSL, or satellite providers as there are required multimedia assignments. You need to have reliable access to the internet at least two-three times a week for 16 weeks.

Anticipate problems with your computer and internet access (including power outages) by not waiting until the last minute to submit assignments. I will not accept yee ‘ol “my computer crashed...I couldn’t load my file....turnitin.com wasn’t working” excuses. Ultimately it is up to you to meet the technological demands and deadlines of this course.

Also note there is a DE class orientation for students who have little to no experience in the on-line environment. See me for details if interested in this.

- Writing — (675 points total)
Three formal analytical/argument papers will be completed (100 points each), each formal paper submitted with a writer’s archive—a minimum of 3 distinctly different drafts & peer responses— At least one formal paper must also include substantial research with MLA documentation. Outside of life or death emergencies, late paper assignments, including drafts, peer responses, and conferences are not permitted and will receive a zero. {Note: your lowest draft score (from drafts 1-2) can be dropped...}

You will also be responsible for completing shorter writing assignments: three peer feedback letters (15 points each), six peer responses (20 points each), one annotation assignment (30 points), and one exploring the audience assignment (30 points), along with sixteen discussion posts (10 points each). All in all, you should count on writing ~1000 words a week. {Note: your lowest minor assignment and lowest discussion post score can be dropped...}

- Grammar & Mechanics—We’ll spend some time working through MLA citation and proper documentation. Plus although this course’s focus is not on teaching grammar and mechanics, we will spend some time in review of these parameters as well. Beyond this, you will be directed to use our online “handbook” at <http://www.tc.umn.edu/~jewel001/grammar/#Punctuation> for self-study. Extra exercises may be assigned according to your individual weaknesses (if any).
- Reading & Critical Thinking,— We will be using our class readings, current print & on-line news/articles sources, videos, audio and other media forms as a springboard to practicing critical thinking, reading, and writing. We will ask questions, explore connections, and struggle to make meaning out of complex ideas. We will seek to understand the value of these works for ourselves individually and for our community as a collective body. These readings, videos, and other media forms will be basis for class discussions, writings, and quizzes.
- Class Discussions (150 points)— Beyond discussions in our FTF class where everyone is asked to participate, each week’s online module also has a discussion based on a prompt. Think of these online discussions like class attendance. You need to show up and participate for full credit. In these discussion posts, each of us will need to be ready to engage in useful, penetrating discussions about the ideas we encounter. As long as you keep up with the assignments and are actively pursuing your own understanding of the difficult issues we take up, you should have no problem here. (Note: the key word above is “actively.”)

You will receive up to a maximum of 10 points for postings and responses to other peoples' postings (see scoring below). The discussion forums are accessed within each week's module on the class Canvas site.

Primary Post -- 5 points possible --Your primary post must:

- React analytically and thoughtfully, not a summary or personal example to the prompt (2 points)
- Relate and apply topic to your own personal experience or viewpoint (1 point)
- Be posted before the Sunday at noon deadline (1 point)
- Meet the 250 word minimum length* and contain reasonably good grammar (1 point)

Reply Postings -- 5 points possible -- EACH of your TWO reply posts must:

- React thoughtfully to the content of a classmate's primary post. Focus your reply on your classmate's post, not solely on your personal experiences (2 points)
- Be posted before the Sunday at noon deadline (1 point)
- Meet the 100 word minimum length* and contain reasonably good grammar (2 points)

*Note: Canvas does not have a word count tool, so to check the word count you'll want to type it in word, pages, text editor, etc first, check the word count, and then copy & paste it into Canvas.

- Module Quizzes (20-50 points)— This course is organized around weekly modules, and occasionally that module may have a quiz consisting of timed multiple-choice items revolving around the week's activities. Quizzes are available at the class Canvas site, with the week's module beginning Monday morning. They will be made unavailable and will not be accepted after the deadlines on Sundays at 12:00pm. Quiz scores and correct answers are available immediately upon submission. Quizzes are not allowed after the deadline passes except under extraordinary conditions/emergencies.
- Conferences (50 points)— I will be scheduling FTF conferences for your formal papers. Each of you will be expected to meet with me in person at least once this semester to discuss your progress in the course. It's the law (it's also a free 50 points).
- Attendance and Participation—Since the main purpose of this class is to bring us all together so that we can engage one another in the process of discovery, each of us needs to be in the classroom on time, prepared, ready to think, read, write, and share. That goes for the weekly online modules too....To encourage this behavior, the following attendance policies will be STRICTLY enforced:
 - At CR, students are expected to attend all FTF sessions of each class in which they are enrolled. Students may not miss more than two weeks of FTF class. For example, if a class meets FTF once a week, students should not exceed TWO FTF absences for the semester. If a student exceeds the limit on FTF absences before week 11 of the semester, an instructor will notify the student that he or she has been dropped. After that notification, students are still responsible to go into Web Advisor and withdraw themselves from the class, in order not to receive an F. After week 10, excessive absences will likely result in failure.
 - For this hybrid class, "attendance" for the online section is defined as active, regular, engaged participation in online class activities (not merely the act of logging on). You are NOT asked to be online at specific hours. However, weekly online class activities and assignments require regular participation and have specific deadlines. CR allows instructors to withdraw students from class for non-participation in online modules through the 10th week of class, so non-participation in our online modules for TWO weeks of assignments at any time during this period will result in a faculty withdrawal. After week 10, you will receive a letter grade for the course at the end of the semester (even if you have stopped participating) based upon whatever points/scores you've accumulated during the semester. For further information, please review the add/drop policy on CR's Admission and Records website.
 - Students who miss any class during the first week—FTF or online—will be dropped so students who are on the wait list (and present) will be given their seats.

- Outside of EMERGENCIES that are documented LEGALLY OR MEDICALLY, no distinction will be made between excused and un-excused absences. Extracurricular-activity participants, working parents, the sick, the healthy, etc, are all held to the same standards. Student athletes are required to be given leeway on game/practice mandated absences—however athletes are still responsible for all their work being done on time—the same as the rest of the class. Use your absences well.
- Students are responsible for knowing the University policy, procedures, and schedule for dropping or adding classes. For more information, please see CR’s website.
- Students are expected to arrive to FTF classes on time. Arriving ten minutes or more late or leaving ten minutes or more early will count as an absence (one warning will be given first). Habitually coming late or leaving early will count as an absence at the teacher’s discretion (here also, one warning will be given first). If you are late or miss a class, you are still responsible for finding out what you missed and completing the assignment on time. If you arrive late for a FTF class, please come in quietly, and wait for group time to conference with me about what you missed and to ascertain I have noted your attendance correctly for the day.
- For FTF classes, absences and tardies should be used to accommodate special circumstances only. If you must miss a class meeting completely or if you need to leave early, get assignments from me or another student before the next class meeting, check Canvas for updates, missed handouts and for possible emails from me, and complete your work by the class due dates.
- Late Assignment Policy—
Major assignments—Formal paper drafts 1-3, peer reviews and instructor conferences are not accepted late outside of life or death emergencies.
The good news, however, is that because a good percentage of your grade will come from our course's line-up of “low stakes” assignments, and it’s easy to have a “bad day” or even miss an assignment, the worst discussion score, worst minor assignment score, and worst formal paper draft (1-2) score will be dropped, so your final grade is not affected by a few “oops” moments. Additionally, late minor assignments may be submitted up to one week late of the original due date with a 20% drop in points. {However, after this one week window, a zero will be given for the assignment.}

Other Notable Class Policies

CLASSROOM BEHAVIOR—(CALLED “NETIQUETTE” IN ONLINE COURSES)

In order to create a positive and productive working environment, disruptive and disrespectful behavior will not be tolerated either in our physical classroom or our virtual one. In FTF classes, cell phones and other personal electronic devices are not allowed. Do not bring them to class unless they are turned off completely. If you must make a call, quietly leave the room. Texting is never appropriate during FTF classes. Laptops may not be open during FTF classes unless you have received permission from the instructor directly. Perhaps most importantly, in both FTF and online classes, students’ actions and words should demonstrate respect and appreciation of diversity for the instructor as well as for their classmates. I expect you to keep your discussions and your posts polite with no foul language and no insults; I expressly prohibit aggression, harassment, bullying, etc., whether it’s face-to-face or virtual, and I treat such as violations of the Student Code of Conduct. Anyone who disrupts the learning environment by acting inappropriately or unethically will be given one email warning. Any future disruptions will result in being kicked out of class and/or dropped from the course, and the case will formally be turned over to the college’s Conduct Review Committee.

TIPS FOR SUCCESS ONLINE:

You will need a quiet workspace, and I recommend setting aside time to “attend” the online portion of the class each week. Although it is not necessary to log-in daily, you should log-in about 3 or more times a week (M-F) to the class and look through the announcements/assignments and participate in the discussion forum.

If you need help in how to be successful in an online class in general, please go to the CR Distance Education page. Links here will take you to a variety of tutorials about online classes:

<http://www.redwoods.edu/departments/distance/> .

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT:

Cheating, plagiarism, abuse of resource materials, computer misuse, fabrication or falsification, submissions of the same paper for two different courses (without BOTH professor's consent), complicity in academic misconduct, and/ or bearing false witness will not be tolerated. Violations will be dealt with according to the procedures and sanctions outlined by the College of the Redwoods. Students caught plagiarizing or cheating on exams or papers will receive an "F" in the course. To help keep all of us on the path of the tried and true, each of your final papers is required to be submitted to www.turnitin.com before being accepted for grading. For more information on academic misconduct, the student code of conduct is available on CR's website at:

<http://www.redwoods.edu/District/Board/New/Chapter5/AP%205500%20Conduct%20Code%20final%2002-07-2012.pdf>

STUDY GROUPS:

You are encouraged to exchange contact information with at least 4 other people in this class as a means to help you keep up with assignments. {We'll have sign-ups in week 2.} If you need help at any time with understanding an assignment, getting writing ideas, peer reviews, etc, please contact someone in your study group. If you have tried, yet failed, to reach any of your study group members in sufficient time (24-48 hours), or if (after contacting them) you still need further information, you are welcome to contact me. You can also use your study group members to "compare notes" about what is due & when, how to best complete assignments, how to better write/read/study, etc...the sky is the limit according to your groups' particular interest.

QUESTIONS FOR THE INSTRUCTOR:

This forum on our Canvas class Modules section is for you to ask any questions to me regarding the material, the class, the assignments, etc. I will check this forum daily M-R.

HELP WITH CANVAS:

There are tutorials built into the Canvas site. I've placed the student guides in Week 0 of the Modules section for your convenience. You can also click on "Help" in the upper right hand corner of the screen, and you will be given the options to: send me a message or ask me a question, search the Canvas Guides for answers to common questions, report a problem with Canvas, or suggest a change to Canvas. In particular, the Canvas guides are very helpful.

FURTHER HELP WITH CANVAS:

If you are having technical difficulties with this online course that pertains to the Canvas system, please contact the Technology Help Desk at 476-4160, its@redwoods.edu

CAMPUS E-RESOURCES

Through the CR's Learning Resource Center you have access to NetLibrary for on-line books and to several databases for journal articles. These will be tremendous resources to you in completing course work. Go to <http://www.redwoods.edu/eureka/library/onlinedbs.asp> for instructions on how to log in to these sites.

THE WRITING CENTER (ENGLISH 53A)

There are instructors and professional tutors available for one-on-one help with any and all aspects of your writing this course. From brainstorming ideas to polishing a finished work, I highly recommend you sign up for additional hours of writing help in English 53A.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS:

College of the Redwoods is committed to equal opportunity in employment, admission to the college, and in the conduct of all of its programs and activities. Our college complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act in making reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. Please present your written accommodation request within the first two weeks of the course if possible to ensure that necessary arrangements can be made. If you have a disability or believe you might benefit from disability related services and may need accommodations, please see me ASAP or contact Disabled Students Programs and Services. Students may make requests for alternative media by contacting DSPS. For more information go to the DSPS website at <http://redwoods.edu/district/dsps/>

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES:

Please review the campus evacuation sites, including the closest site to this classroom (posted by the exit of each room) and review www.redwoods.edu/safety.asp for information on campus Emergency Procedures.

RAVE:

College of the Redwoods has implemented an emergency alert system. Everyone is entered already to receive a message at their CR email address. In the event of an emergency on campus, you can also elect to receive an alert through your personal email, and/or phones at your home, office, and cell. Please go to <https://www.GetRave.com/login/Redwoods> to "Register." Please contact Public Safety at 707-476-4112, or email security@redwoods.edu, if you have any questions.

GRADES:

Your final grade will be based on the total points you have earned throughout the semester. After each assignment is graded your point value will be posted into the Canvas grade book. You will be able to keep track of your total points throughout the semester at the course Canvas site.

Grading rubrics are also available for each weekly forums and for your formal writing assignments.

According to English department policy, there will be no extra credit available in this course.

For this course, we will use the following "end of semester" scale:

A=100-93%	A-=92-90%	} A LEVELS=EXEMPLARY WORK
B+= 89-87%	B=86-83%	B-=82-80%	} B LEVELS=GOOD, COMPLETE WORK
C+=79-77%	C=76-70%	} C LEVELS=SATISFACTORY WORK
D=69-60%	F=59% & below	} THESE LEVELS=BELOW SATISFACTORY WORK

An Invitation:

Together we'll be nurturing an environment of continued growth as writers and as active community members. I am here to coach you through this process and help you achieve success in every way that I can. I am more than willing to help you work through the tougher parts of the class, but you need to communicate openly with me as this is an intense, involved class that expects a lot of self-discipline from you. If you feel that you are falling behind, schedule an appointment to talk to me as soon as possible. If you ask, I will offer extra help to get you through and/or direct you toward others who can help. You can also post questions to our class "Questions for the Instructor" Forum, email me or, for matters of dire importance that need help immediately, call my cell phone directly and if I don't answer, leave a clear, specific message, including your telephone number. I will get back to you as soon as possible. For extra help with your papers, remember you can always turn to the Writing Center in English 53A for excellent one-on-one assistance as well. I look forward to sharing this journey with you.

~Cyndy
