Brief Introduction:

Welcome to English 1-A, also known as College Composition. During this semester you will learn, practice, and develop advanced writing skills that will help ensure your overall college success. In addition, you will engage in critical inquiry that will allow you to examine the world we all live in with enhanced curiosity and awareness.

Students are often led to believe that writing is primarily about avoiding errors and providing the right answer, or that writing is a "natural" talent that some people have and others do not. English 1A will intentionally challenge these assumptions. We will consider how the writing process can be used to express ourselves clearly and effectively. We will explore ways to understand, assess, and reflect on our own lives and surroundings through open inquiry, critical thinking, textual analysis, and the art of argumentation. We will contemplate the power of language to create meaning, and the role it plays in a world that is becoming increasingly more dependent on advanced technology, media, and visual stimulation.

Student Support

Good information and clear communication about your needs will help you be successful. Please let your instructor know about any specific challenges or technology limitations that might affect your participation in class. College of the Redwoods wants every student to be successful.

In such cases where the instructor determines that a student has disrupted the educational process, a disruptive student may be temporarily removed from class. In addition, the student may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website.
