Required Materials

Required book for Reading Reports: Naked Statistics by Charles Wheelan ISBN: 039334777

My advice is buy it used, or check it out from the library. You may also purchase from Amazon and read online with the Kindle reader.

Other requirement: Statcrunch account - purchased online, statistics software package to be used on a computer or iPad/tablet. Make sure you write down your Statcrunch username and password. I will not be able to help you with this if you forget this information.

Catalog Description

Math-15 is an introduction to basic concepts of descriptive and inferential statistics, with emphasis on the meaning and use of statistical significance. Students will use probability techniques to make decisions via hypothesis testing and will estimate parameters using confidence intervals. The course includes applications from a variety of technical and social science fields.

Course Student Learning Outcomes (from course outline of record)

- 1. Accurately communicate statistical ideas using correct statistical notation, graphs, and vocabulary.
- 2. Use descriptive and inferential statistics to better understand real-world problems.
- 3. Demonstrate appropriate use of technology in making decisions based upon real-world data.
- 4. Read and interpret information that contains statistical analysis and be able to communicate these results.
- 5. Judge the validity of research reported in the mass media and peer reviewed journals.

Evaluation & Grading Policy

Canvas Exercises/Quizzes & Discussion Boards35%

Instead of using a textbook we'll be using an interactive course in Canvas that will give you readings and have you immediately work with the material. It will also require you to interact with problems in discussion boards which provide you a chance to work through a problem and then get/give feedback. Giving and getting feedback is critical to making sure you gain increased mastery of the material.

Canvas Checkpoint Quizzes10%

We'll have lots of medium sized Checkpoint Quizzes. The Quiz allows you three attempts, and we keep the best grade. Quizzes are for learning. It allows you to show how you're doing with the material, and give you an early alert if you're missing something.

Midterm Project......20%

Instead of a Midterm or Final Exam, we will do a Midterm Project.

Reading Reports......15%

There are some important parts of statistics we won't get a lot of time to discuss. Instead I'm assigning a very readable and entertaining book for you to read. The book we will read is an excellent complement to the class, and is actually fun to read!

Participation......20%

If you are unable to attend class, you need to contact the instructor and let him know what is going on.

Falling Behind

Despite our best efforts, sometimes life gets in the way of school. Sometimes other classes end up requiring more work than expected, so school gets in the way of school! I've been there in both cases and have had to drop classes midsemester because I had too much on my plate. So I totally understand. I'm here to help you and don't feel like you owe me an apology for doing your best to balance your life. But let's assume the worst happens, and for some reason you fall behind... If this happens and you feel like you cannot complete the class, you can withdraw from the class. This means you get a W instead of an F on your transcript, which is much better for your GPA.

| Α | 89.5 | $\leq Grade$ | ≤ 100 |
|---|------|--------------|--------|
| В | 79.5 | ≤ Grade | < 89.5 |
| С | 69.5 | ≤ Grade | < 79.5 |
| D | 59.5 | $\leq Grade$ | < 69.5 |
| F | 0 | ≤ Grade | < 59.5 |

Educational Accessibility & Support

Academic dishonesty

In the academic community, the high value placed on truth implies a corresponding intolerance of scholastic dishonesty. In cases involving academic dishonesty, determination of the grade and of the student's status in the course is left primarily to the discretion of the faculty member. In such cases, where the instructor determines that a student has demonstrated academic dishonesty, the student may receive a failing grade for the assignment and/or exam and may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Disruptive behavior

Student behavior or speech that disrupts the instructional setting will not be tolerated. Disruptive conduct may include, but is not limited to: unwarranted interruptions; failure to adhere to instructor's directions; vulgar or obscene language; slurs or other forms of intimidation; and physically or verbally abusive behavior. In such cases where the instructor determines that a student has disrupted the educational process, a disruptive student may be temporarily removed from class. In addition, the student may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Inclusive Language in the Classroom

College of the Redwoods aspires to create a learning environment in which all people feel comfortable in contributing their perspectives to classroom discussions. It therefore encourages instructors and students to use language that is inclusive and respectful.

Setting Your Preferred Name in Canvas

Students have the ability to have an alternate first name and pronouns to appear in Canvas. Contact Admissions & Records to request a change to your preferred first name and pronoun. Your Preferred Name will only be listed in Canvas. This does not change your legal name in our records. See the Student Information Update form.

Welcome to Class!

Statistics is an incredibly relevant topic in our society. It is used in news, business, politics, academic research, and in every field that uses data. Understanding statistics will not only further your educational and career goals, but help you be an informed citizen and consumer.

You may be intimidated by this class, but don't worry! This is not your typical math class. Statistics is about critical thinking. At its heart, statistics uses data to answer questions. And even though it involves math, many people find that their intuition goes a long way in this class. Statistics is best learned hands-on.

Things You Should Know

Time Commitment

This class will keep you busy! We have asynchronous class lectures and a lot of homework. You should be ready to commit at least 12 hours per week to work. At the beginning it can feel a little overwhelming, but in the first few weeks you'll find your pace. You will need to spend time on this class in addition to the time in the classroom.

Class Rules

As a general rule, be respectful to your classmates and help provide a healthy environment for learning. Give your full attention to the material or activities we are working on.

Course Packets

During class we'll be using packets to guide the discussion. The material in these packets was made for online distribution by collaboration with the faculty at Los Medanos Community College (LMC) and Cuyumaca Community College (CCC). They have been edited by Levi Gill and Danny Ammon, Mathematics Professors at College of the Redwoods, with permission.
