Welcome to Comparative Politics: POLSC 20. This course serves as an introduction to the study of domestic politics around the world. It covers the broad spectrum of theoretic approaches, societal components (such as nationalism, ethnicity, and ideology), overviews of different institutional structures (states, societies, democracies, and nondemocratic regimes) and a great deal of specific actual cases in which the patterns and methods of comparison apply. Examples of these cases would include federalism, separation of powers, legislative organization, executive powers, political participation, voting, and public opinion.

Course Learning Outcomes: Upon the successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Outline historical, cultural, environmental, and economic differences of various states on different continents.
2. Analyze how historical, cultural, environmental, and economic differences influence national policies and governmental systems.
3. Diagram the political processes in different states.
4. Describe and apply some basic ideas and theoretical approaches used in comparative political studies.
5. Detail the variation of political institutions (e.g. electoral, judicial, administrative, and party systems) and the range of political behavior countries can choose between.

Format: The class is a combination of lecture, discussion, student presentations, and activities.

Texts: The American Anomaly, 3rd edition, by Raymond A. Smith ISBN 978-0-415-81433-1 Routledge Pub.
Handouts distributed in class:

Institutions of China, Andrew Mertha

Russia: Semipresidentialism in a New Democracy with Weak Institutions, CQ Press

France, Patrick H. O'Neil

Germany, The Governmental Setting, Stella Z. Theodoulou

Expectations:

1. On-time attendance is expected throughout the semester. Class begins at 11:40 and goes until 1:05. Please observe these times. Active note taking is necessary as class discussions connect themes to specific content.
2. Cheating, plagiarism, and improper academic behavior will not be tolerated. Anyone caught cheating on an exam or plagiarizing a paper will automatically fail that component of the course and may be subject to additional college-level sanctions.
3. Students are expected to take all exams, and all but two quizzes on the schedule dates. Several presentations are expected, each to be accompanied by an outline or synopsis to be submitted beforehand.
4. I ask all of us to honor the rights of free speech. Furthermore I ask each one of us to help maintain our class as a forum for thoughtful, respectful, and courteous true discussion. Inappropriate behavior will result in consequences as outlined in the Student Code of Conduct, see <http://www.redwoods.edu/District/Board/New/Chapter5/Ap5500.pdf>

Note: students with appropriate paperwork from DSPS should notify the instructor of accommodations they may require. Please do so as soon as possible so that arrangements can be made.

Grading:

1. Frequent Quizzes – 25% Quizzes, given frequently, are based on the text, lectures, discussions, activities, videos, other readings - in short, everything that we cover in class. They are usually short essay, identification questions. They can be multiple choice, true/false, or a mix of these. The two lowest scores (or two missed quizzes) are dropped at the end of the semester. There are no make-ups.. All quizzes are given at the beginning of class. They will take only a short amount of time. Late arrivals will miss the quiz.

2. Exams Three comprehensive exams are given.

First Exam – 10%. The first Exam will consist of an essay question and an element of Comparative Politics analysis that we have covered. Notice the date: Wednesday, February 26.

Second Exam – 10% The Second Exam is an essay in which specific content of the course is to be applied in order to illustrate broader themes of Comparative Politics. Wednesday, April 2.

Final – 10% The format is similar to the Second Exam. Make note of the time and date of the final. Make sure that you reserve Monday, May 5 at 10:45 for our final.

3. Presentations and Summaries – 45% Students will present three reports (10% each) that illustrate particular aspects of comparative politics. Written summaries (5% each) are expected prior to each presentation.

Scales: Comparative Politics uses the following grading scale:

92. - 100 = A	87 . - 89.4 = B+	77 - 79.4 = C+
89.5 - 91.9 = A-	82 - 86.9 = B	72 - 76.9 = C	59.5 - 69.4 = D
	79.5. - 81.9 = B-	69.5 - 71.9 = C-	Below 59.5 = F

Extra Credit – Independent extra credit assignments are not available for this class. However, points earned in activities go toward raising your midterm or final scores.

Schedule: Classes will be held every day as scheduled except for holidays January 20 and February 17.

We'll try to follow the schedule below. However, if any adjustments during the semester need to be made, then please make note of any changes announced in class and/or posted on MyCR.
