Catalog Description

A course focusing on the scientific study of behavior and mental processes. The content of the course focuses on the exploration of major theories and concepts, methods, and research findings in psychology. Topics include biological foundations, perception, learning, cognition, emotion, motivation, development, personality, social psychology, psychological disorders and therapies, and applied psychology. This course is transferable to four-year colleges and is a prerequisite for most upper division psychology courses.

Course Student Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

1. Explain concepts in areas of psychological theory and research while representing appropriate breadth and depth of knowledge within the context of historical trends in psychology.
2. Recognize and understand the impact of diversity on psychological research, theory and application, including (but not limited to): age, race, ethnicity, culture, gender, socio-economic status, disability, and sexual orientation.
3. Demonstrate critical thinking skills and information competence as applied to psychological topics.
4. Analyze how experience, culture, learning, and biology affect behavior and cognitive processes.

Evaluation & Grading Policy

Rubrics and grading standards for course evaluations (listed below) will be discussed in class and posted on Canvas.

Academic dishonesty

In the academic community, the high value placed on truth implies a corresponding intolerance of scholastic dishonesty. In cases involving academic dishonesty, determination of the grade and of the student's status in the course is left primarily to the discretion of the faculty member. In such cases, where the instructor determines that a student has demonstrated academic dishonesty, the student may receive a failing grade for the assignment and/or exam and may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Disruptive behavior

Student behavior or speech that disrupts the instructional setting will not be tolerated. Disruptive conduct may include but is not limited to: unwarranted interruptions; failure to adhere to instructor's directions; vulgar or obscene language; slurs or other forms of intimidation; and physically or verbally abusive behavior. In such cases where the instructor determines that a student has disrupted the educational process, a disruptive student may be temporarily removed from class. In addition, the student may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Class participation and Attendance policy

Most days in our course, individual and small group interaction will take place; one must be present to participate. While I do not grade attendance, I do grade on participation. To that end, plan on being in class on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Participation and interaction are primary learning aspects of this course; plan on attending every scheduled class.

Students who miss four or more classes prior to 4/3/2019 may be dropped by the instructor (with prior notification). This is intended as a measure of support; missing class excessively will negatively affect your grade and I support all students in having rich experience and passing the course.

Periodically, a formative quiz that covers reviewed information will be administered. These quizzes are random and may not be made up.

Policies - additional

If you know in advance that you will be absent on a mid-term or assignment due* day, please notify me in advance and we can arrange for a make-up, however, typically, students do not need to notify the instructor if a class will be missed. Late assignments will be accepted beyond the scheduled due date (by the beginning of class) for up to one week (unless other arrangements are made in advance) for half credit.

* Students are at liberty to turn written assignments in early.

Please come to class prepared to participate and engage in discussion.

Please be respectful of other's – i.e.:

refer to and about others in ways that have been requested (mindful of he, she, they, their, etc.)

refrain from derogatory remarks and profanity interject when others are done speaking be thoughtful about strong olfactory emissions – perfume, aftershave, lotions, etc.

silence your cell phone

keep side conversations to a minimum

Academic Misconduct

The work that you produce on written assignments and in course assessments must be your own work. If you incorporate the work of others into your writing, you need to cite the source. Cheating, plagiarism, collusion, abuse of resource materials, computer misuse, fabrication or falsification, multiple submissions, complicity in academic misconduct, and/ or bearing false witness will not be tolerated. Violations will be dealt with according to the procedures and sanctions proscribed by the College of the Redwoods. Students caught plagiarizing or cheating on exams will receive an “F” on the assignment and possibly for the course. Bottom line: DON’T (lie, cheat, steal, embellish, gossip, hurt anyone) plagiarize or copy; DO cite your sources; if you are confused or would like assistance, just ask – that’s what I am here for!

Gender-Inclusive Language in the Classroom

College of the Redwoods aspires to create a learning environment in which all people feel comfortable contributing their perspectives to classroom discussions. It, therefore, encourages instructors and students to use language that is gender-inclusive and non-sexist to affirm and respect how people describe, express, and experience their gender. Just as sexist language excludes women’s experiences, non-gender-inclusive language excludes the experiences of individuals whose identities may not fit the gender binary, and/or who may not identify with the sex they were assigned at birth. Gender-inclusive/non-sexist language acknowledges people of any gender (for example, first-year student versus freshman, humankind versus mankind, etc.), affirms non-binary gender identifications and recognizes the difference between biological sex and gender expression.

Students may elect to have an alternate first name and pronouns to appear in Canvas. Contact Admissions & Records to request a change to your preferred first name and pronoun. Your Preferred Name will only be listed in Canvas. It does not change your legal name in our records. See the Student Information Update Form.
