Evaluation & Grading Policy

COURSE REQUIREMENTS AND GRADING: This course is a theme-oriented one that makes use of brief lectures and small-group work to explore topics in a personal manner. As such, students are expected to complete assigned readings for each topic prior to each class session, to write weekly reactions papers (based on reactions to readings and to their participation in class/group sessions), and to actively participate in small-group explorations. This course requires both a personal and academic involvement on the part of the student, since the course deals mainly with understanding oneself and others. Other specific requirements are listed below:

Active participation in class discussions

Prompt attendance at ALL the class sessions

Keeping up to date with all of the assigned readings

Midterm test

Take-home reactions papers

Completion of the self-reflective activities in each chapter of the book

Final examination

BASIS FOR GRADING: A student's grade for this course will be determined by evidence of the quality of learning as demonstrated by his or her performance in the following areas:

reactions papers (25points)

midterm test (25 points)

final examination (25 points)

class participation (attendance and in-class writing) (25 points)

Grading Scale:

100 - 90 = A 89 - 80 = B 79 - 70 = C

69 - 60 = D 59 - 0 = F

REACTION PAPERS: There are 5 reaction papers due, each of which should be two double-spaced typewritten pages. The approximate suggested length is between one to two typed double spaced pages. Each of these papers is worth 5 points maximum. To earn credit for a reaction paper it is expected that it will be turned in at the beginning of the class each week. You might want to write about your personal reactions to certain topics within a chapter. How do certain sections within a chapter have personal meaning to you? How can you apply a particular topic that is discussed to your own life? What are you learning about yourself from each chapter? What might you want to do about what you are learning about yourself? Some topics may be highly personal and you might not want to share your personal reactions to a given topic. If this is the case, you can then write a critique of the chapter. What are your thoughts about the ideas presented in a given chapter? Thus, your reactions papers can be a combination of your personal reactions to what you are learning about yourself and also a critique and discussion about a few key points of the chapter that most stand out for you.

This class will involve some degree of self-exploration and interpersonal learning. The instructor will talk more fully about the guidelines for self-disclosure and the expectations at the first class meeting. Attendance at the full duration of class is expected at each class meeting, unless you have an emergency situation or are really ill. For me to credit you with an EXCUSED ABSENCE, you need to know that it is YOUR RESPONSIBILITY to inform me of such cases immediately upon returning to class. ## Academic dishonesty

In the academic community, the high value placed on truth implies a corresponding intolerance of scholastic dishonesty. In cases involving academic dishonesty, determination of the grade and of the student's status in the course is left primarily to the discretion of the faculty member. In such cases, where the instructor determines that a student has demonstrated academic dishonesty, the student may receive a failing grade for the assignment and/or exam and may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Disruptive behavior

Student behavior or speech that disrupts the instructional setting will not be tolerated. Disruptive conduct may include, but is not limited to: unwarranted interruptions; failure to adhere to instructor's directions; vulgar or obscene language; slurs or other forms of intimidation; and physically or verbally abusive behavior. In such cases where the instructor determines that a student has disrupted the educational process, a disruptive student may be temporarily removed from class. In addition, the student may be reported to the Chief Student Services Officer or designee. The Student Code of Conduct (AP 5500) is available on the College of the Redwoods website. Additional information about the rights and responsibilities of students, Board policies, and administrative procedures is located in the College Catalog and on the College of the Redwoods website.

Proctoring (*required for online courses)

[Instructor: explain whether or not proctoring is required, and if so, what proctoring options are available. Please note that for an online course you must include both an off campuses option in addition to our on campus testing center. Typically it has been up to the student to choose and arrange for an approved off campus proctor, however this process can be both complicated and time consuming for both student and instructor. CR can now offer proctoring through Canvas and Proctorio, a proctoring software and lockdown browser. This can be a good option for students who have limited local resources or mobility issues.

Gender-Inclusive Language in the Classroom

College of the Redwoods aspires to create a learning environment in which all people feel comfortable in contributing their perspectives to classroom discussions. It therefore encourages instructors and students to use language that is gender-inclusive and non-sexist to affirm and respect how people describe, express, and experience their gender. Just as sexist language excludes women's experiences, non-gender-inclusive language excludes the experiences of individuals whose identities may not fit the gender binary, and/or who may not identify with the sex they were assigned at birth. Gender-inclusive/non-sexist language acknowledges people of any gender (for example, first year student versus freshman, humankind versus mankind, etc.), affirms non-binary gender identifications, and recognizes the difference between biological sex and gender expression.

Students have the ability to have an alternate first name and pronouns to appear in Canvas. Contact Admissions & Records to request a change to your preferred first name and pronoun. Your Preferred Name will only be listed in Canvas. It does not change your legal name in our records. See the Student Information Update form.
